

Let Mother Nature Cook

Rooftop Dinner

1. Buy frozen pre-cooked food (best are Banquet-brand chicken and corn dogs, but Trader Joe's Chicken fingers would be good too)
2. Wrap food in tin foil
3. Place food on roof of car in the morning (put in extra for others)
4. Smile nicely when all your friends laugh at you
5. Eat when ready (afternoon to evening usually)
6. Smile even more when all your friends eat your food and say "wow, that's good!"

Side note: you do NOT have to keep the "food" frozen.

Dashboard Stew

"This is what we do. Buy canned ravioli / chili / stew or any other meal-in-a-can and set it on the dashboard of your car. It is so hot by noon or dinnertime, you will need a hot pad or something to pick it up with. Open and eat out of the can. (Don't forget a can opener!) A hot meal with no effort, time, cooking equipment or dishes! It's great because time is too precious on the playa to waste putting together meals and cleaning up." –Playa Lizard
